The Nominees Our local columns contain full reports of the results of the primary elections of yesterday. We refer the reader to them for We wish only to say in this column that the gentlemen nominated are now the regular candidates of the Democratic-Conservative party, fairly chosen, and entitled to the support of every true Democratin Richmond. Of course, every voter has not secured his first choice for every office. That was impossible in the very nature of things. The preliminary election was held for the purpose of learning whose favorites ought to abandon the track and whose ought to run through. No fairer elections than our Richmond primaries were ever held. Every voter puts his name on his ticket, which is read out to all by-standers, and is then deposited. Nobody, therefore, has any right to complain this city if every true Democrat will make earliest reference I have met with as to a celebration of the birthday of Washingit his duty to ratify the choice of the people as expressed yesterday.

London, May 11.—The opinion grows that the indiscriminate proceedings of the Irish police show that they are in a state of uncertainty regarding the murderers of Lord Frederick Cavendish and Mr. Burke.

At Haverford-West an Irishman has made a statement that last week while he was in Dublin he refused an offer of £100 to assist in the murder of Lord Frederick Cavendish and Mr. Burke. His statement has been communicated to Sir William V. Harcourt, Home Secretary.

Immediately after his statement he was conveyed from Haverford-West to Liver-pool. He adhered to his first statement. His knowledge of the locality of the crime and his description of the men give his statement every appearance of truth. The police anticipate that something important will transpire from his statements. He
